Hi there,

I spoke with one of my colleagues and it appears that your MATH 010 course was changed to MATH 003 at mid-semester because you didn't satisfy the requirements to move to MATH 110 with the assessment(s) you completed for the course until that time.

Given the above, it doesn't make sense to apply for a withdrawal from the course. It won't be factored into your GPA, and the policy for the course is that students will move to MATH 110 from MATH 010 at mid-semester or they will move to MATH 003 if they're not prepared to go to MATH 110.

Hopefully, that clears up the confusion, but let me know if you have any additional questions.

Take care for now,

Tee Leathers
